

Appendix

Codebook 1

Code	Usage
Con Man Lingo (Ocean's 11) -Boesky -Jim Brown -Miss Daisy -Two Jethros -Leon Spinks -Ella Fitzgerald	Brad Pitt and George Clooney discussing how to pull off robbing the casinos
Con Man Lingo (Ocean's 12) -Lost in translation -Looky-loo with a bundle of joy	Discussing different ways to succeed in the con and confusing authorities
Con Man Lingo (Ocean's 13) -Susan B. Anthony -Billy Martin	Rigging slot machines
Characters exhibiting confidence	The characters in the Ocean's trilogy are exceedingly confident that they can pull off their heists and not get caught
Being the good guys	Running away from and outsmarting the authorities in close-call situations. Example; Rigging slot machines makes it appear that the con men are 'helping' people not committing a crime.
Lack of deterrence	Danny Ocean is out of prison on parole but is not deterred from robbing the casinos

Codebook 2

Code	Usage
Con Man Lingo -Confidence trick -Code red -Miss Daisy -Leon Spinks	Phrases used by Neal Caffrey and Mozzie to weed out other white-collar criminals
Characters exhibiting confidence	Neal Caffrey makes a deal with the FBI to shorten his sentence. Manipulation of other characters to avoid punishment
Being the good guys	Caffrey assists the FBI in finding other white-collar criminals, which causes the audience to see him in a favorable light although he's still a criminal
Lack of deterrence	Neal Caffrey cuts a deal with the FBI instead of being punished, thus encouraging him that he can get away with his cons