Editorial

Dear readers of the International Journal of Family & Community Medicine. Our journal has been available to you under my Editorship since 2018. This is a source of great pride and happiness for me. As an academic, it has helped me see the real deal.

This journal, the pages of which you are currently browsing, is created by the diligent work of a valuable team, of which I am a member.

This year, we share the excitement and happiness of publishing the 8th Volume of our Journal with our valued readers.

In the digital age, IJFCM is available online in pdf formats. The increasing interest in our journal both makes us very happy and increases the burden on our evaluators.

I would like to thank our authors whose articles were published in all issues, our referees who contributed to increasing the quality of the articles by making detailed reviews, the dynamic and devoted Editorial Board, the Publishing Team and our valued readers.

Unfortunately, journal team lists will not be permanent. Our aim is to create a dynamic and living team. We want everyone to work and produce within the system.

We care that every article submitted to the journal is evaluated with the same objectivity. Our biggest goal is to shorten the time it takes for a manuscript to be reviewed and returned to the author as much as possible, and of course, it increases the impact factor of IJFCM.

The editorial procedures of IJFCM are carried out in accordance with international norms and ethical rules. It is important for us to
