

Traumatic Eosinophilic Ulcer Clinical Images

Case

- A Sudanese male 54 years old came to the dental clinic complaining from painful endophytic ulcer within 2 weeks duration.
- On intra oral examination the ulcer had indurated base and everted edges with no discharge, there are sharp badly decayed adjacent right lower premolars. Incisional biopsy showed inflammatory eosinophilic granuloma.

Clinical Images

Volume 5 Issue 2 - 2016

Yousif I Eltohami and Amal H Abuaffan*

University of Khartoum, Faculty of Dentistry, Sudan

Corresponding author: Amal H Abuaffan, University of Khartoum, Faculty of Dentistry, Sudan, Email: amalabuaffan@yahoo.com

Received: September 25, 2015 | Published: October 12, 2016

Figure 1: Shows endophytic ulcer beside sharp adjacent posterior teeth.

Figure 2: Shows the relationship between the ulcer & the sharp adjacent posterior teeth in occlusion.